

LCD GURU WINMATE COMMUNICATION INC SETS ROOTS IN SA

September 2007

International LCD specialist WinMate Communications Inc has cemented its position in the South African market by formalising a longstanding partnership with touch screen- and monitor solutions company, Tactile Technologies.

Tactile Technologies MD Mauro Mercuri announced this week that his company has been appointed as Winmate's business partner in South African for the Taiwanese-based company.

Mercuri said Tactile Technologies currently distributes WinMate's digital signage monitors, open frame monitors and panel PCs. Tactile Technologies has access to a huge range of products as well as the technical know-how to support them.

"WinMate is a well known and accredited LCD guru. WinMate Communications Inc is a global leader in display solutions, producing LCD solutions for all major industries including mainstream commercial applications as well as custom-made solutions.

WinMate welcomes Tactile Technologies as their business partner in SA because of the strong working relationship they have shared for a decade, as well as because the projects initiated thus far have been so successful. This comes on the back of a strong existing distribution network across Southern Africa, along with a deep knowledge of LCD and touch screen technology.
